From the Pastor's Desk on the solemnity of the Baptism of our Lord. Jan 11, 2026.

Today we celebrate the solemnity of the Baptism of our Lord Jesus Christ. This solemnity, the baptism of our Lord recalls the history of the Lord's own baptism and reminds us of the importance of the sacrament of baptism in our lives as Christians. This brings to an end the season of Christmas. The Church recalls Our Lord's second manifestation or epiphany which occurred on the occasion of His baptism in the Jordan. Jesus descended into the River to sanctify its waters and to give them the power to beget sons of God

The first reading today is a message of hope and consolation to all God's people. Christ, the anointed one of God, "whom I uphold, my chosen one with whom I am pleased... he shall bring forth justice to the nations." is with us to bring us healing. Most importantly, He will open the eyes of the blind, to bring out prisoners from confinement... those who live in darkness."

Isaiah puts it this way: "a bruised reed he shall not break...until he establishes justice on the earth. This is exactly the ministry that Christ was anointed and empowered for by the Holy Spirit that rested on him like a dove during his baptism. In our second reading, from Acts of the Apostles states that "God shows no partiality." That everyone is equal in the sight of God, for He created us out of love and has no favorite, despite your wealth, status or religion. What God wants is for us to be saved and come to experience and come to have knowledge of the truth.

The gospel reading of today speaks about baptism of Jesus by John the Baptist. During this baptism, God anointed Christ with the Holy Spirit and empowered him for his mission of bringing healing and peace to all nations. It was necessary for Christ to be baptized in order to underscore the importance of the sacrament of baptism as the foundation for all other sacraments. Through this Baptism, Christ manifested his full humanity, yet, without undermining his divinity. His baptism was a sign of solidarity with us whom he came save. It was a sign that he himself was ready to go through any ordeal in order to guarantee our salvation. Most importantly, through his baptism Christ initiated our redemptive process, which he will finally seal with his blood on the cross.

On this day therefore, it is very important for us to reflect on our own baptism. We need to reflect especially on how well we have observed and kept our baptismal vows. How faithful have we been to God in terms of keeping these promises. While we reflect on Christ's baptism and ours today, let us ask God to renew his spirit in us as we continue our walk with Christ this year for our salvation.

FEAST OF THE BAPTISM OF THE LORD
MASS AND ADMINISTRATION OF THE SACRAMENT OF BAPTISM
HOMILY OF HIS HOLINESS BENEDICT XVI
Sunday, 13 January 2013

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

The joy that flowed from the celebration of holy Christmas is fulfilled today in the Feast of the Baptism of the Lord. A further reason for jubilation comes to us who are gathered here: indeed, in the sacrament of Baptism that I shall shortly administer to these newborn babies is expressed the living and active presence of the Holy Spirit who, enriching the Church with new children, vitalizes and develops her, and we cannot but rejoice in this.

I would like to address a special greeting to you, dear parents and godparents who are witnessing to your faith today by asking for baptism for these children, so that they may be born to new life in Christ and become part of the community of believers.

The Gospel account of the baptism of Jesus which we heard in St Luke's version shows the life of meekness and humility that the Son of God chose freely, complying with the Father's plan to be obedient to his desire for love for man in all things, even to his sacrifice on the cross.

Having reached adulthood, Jesus began his public ministry by going to the River Jordan to receive from John a baptism of penance and conversion.

What might seem paradoxical in our eyes actually happened. Did Jesus need penance and conversion? Of course not. Yet the One who is without sin put himself among sinners to have himself baptized, to make this act of penance. The Holy One of God joined those who recognized they were in need of forgiveness and asked God for the gift of conversion, that is, the grace to return to him with their whole heart, to belong totally to him. Jesus chose to join the ranks of sinners, to be in solidarity with them, expressing God's closeness.

Jesus shows his solidarity with us, with our efforts to convert and to be rid of our selfishness, to break away from our sins in order to tell us that if we accept him in our life, he can uplift us and lead us to the heights of God the Father. And Jesus' solidarity is not, as it were, a mere exercise of mind and will. Jesus truly immersed himself in our human condition, lived it to the end, in all things save sin, and was able to understand our weakness and frailty. For this reason, he was moved to compassion, he chose to "suffer with" men and women, to become a penitent with us. This is God's work which Jesus wanted to carry out: the divine mission to heal those who are wounded and give medicine to the sick, to take upon himself the sin of the world.

What happened at the moment when Jesus had himself baptized by John? In the face of this act of humble love by the Son of God, the heavens opened and the Holy Spirit showed himself in the form of a dove, while a voice from on high expressed the pleasure of the Father who acknowledged his Only-Begotten, his beloved Son. This was a real manifestation of the Blessed Trinity, that bears witness to the divinity of Jesus, of his being the promised Messiah, the One whom God sent to set his People free in order to save them (cf. Is 40:2).
